

willer

New Objects: 3 Makers Metal | Glass | Wood | Marble

17 November – 23 December 2017

ARNO DE CLERCQ

Willer is launching its representation of Arno de Clercq, a talented young Belgium designer and art dealer hand making elegant brutalist objects in wood. Inspired by African tribal art and ancient Japanese wood working techniques. He creates very evocative contemporary pieces with deep roots in the history of craft.

The pieces range from delicate scooped out triple 'trays' on stilts to imposing blocks surmounted by candleholders. Represented by Willer, he is also able to produce designs for special commissions.

PHILIP MICHAEL WOLFSON

Willer has again collaborated with Philip Michael Wolfson, this time to produce a series of steel centrepieces.

The pieces take his well-known T-X bench as inspiration, creating scaled down modular pieces, both low and high, to either sit on their own or to provide a platform for other pieces. The strong shapes are executed in steel, left either bare or dark patinated. They can both stand alone or can be arranged together to interact in multiple ways - equally useful, elegant and brutal.

willer

APPARATUS

Willer is delighted to launch its representation of Apparatus Studio's objects collection. The studio is based in New York and has quickly established itself as a design leader in the imagining and creation of objects using a wide range of sensual materials combined with industrial elements and beautiful finishes.

Creative Director Gabriel Hendifar is inspired by the modernist principle of a total work of art. The Studio itself is a testament to this approach, an ever-evolving space in which all aspects of the design and production are carefully overseen. Each sculptural piece is hand finished in the historic New York space.

Ranging from cleverly engineered modular candlestick blocks to impressive slabs of cast glass which form the base for delicate elongated bowls, the growing collection demonstrates the studio's highly individual vision.

For more information, including loans, images and prices please contact:

Email: info@willer.co.uk Tel: +44 (0)20 7397 3518