A still life composition featuring three tall, rounded ceramic vessels and a dark bowl. The vessels are arranged in a row on a textured, brownish surface. The background is split into a dark, textured left side and a light, textured right side. The vessels have different finishes: the left one is a warm, golden-brown color; the middle one is a dark, metallic bronze color; and the right one is a dark, mottled brown with vertical streaks. Each vessel has a black, cylindrical stopper with a small knob on top. The bowl in the foreground is dark and filled with a liquid, reflecting light. The overall aesthetic is minimalist and modern, with a focus on texture and color.
